

Employee Conduct & Workplace Policy

Version: 1.0.0

Effective Date: 08/06/2026

Approved By: CHARLIE TAIL

1. Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to establish clear expectations for employee conduct, responsibilities, and workplace behavior. The Company is committed to creating a professional, respectful, safe, and collaborative work environment where every employee understands their responsibilities and contributes to the success of the organization.

These policies are designed to:

- Promote professionalism and accountability.
- Ensure employees understand their roles and responsibilities.
- Foster respectful communication among team members.
- Provide a fair process for reporting workplace concerns.
- Protect employees from harassment, discrimination, and retaliation.
- Maintain a positive workplace culture that supports collaboration and innovation.

Every employee is responsible for reading, understanding, and complying with these policies.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all individuals working for the Company, including:

- Full-time employees
- Part-time employees
- Contractors
- Interns
- Temporary workers
- Consultants, when applicable

Employees are expected to follow these policies regardless of whether they work remotely, in-office, or in a hybrid arrangement.

3. Professional Expectations

Employees represent the Company through their work, communication, and behavior. Professionalism should be demonstrated at all times when interacting with coworkers, clients, vendors, and members of the public.

Professional behavior includes:

- Treating everyone with courtesy and respect.
- Communicating honestly and professionally.
- Completing assigned work responsibly.
- Meeting deadlines whenever reasonably possible.
- Cooperating with teammates.
- Maintaining confidentiality regarding company information.
- Accepting constructive feedback professionally.
- Following instructions provided by supervisors and management.

Employees should contribute to a workplace built on mutual trust, respect, and accountability.

4. Job Responsibilities

Employees are hired to perform duties associated with their assigned position.

Unless specifically instructed by a supervisor or manager, employees should not:

- Perform another employee's assigned responsibilities.
- Override another employee's decisions.
- Represent another department without authorization.
- Make commitments on behalf of another team.

Employees may assist coworkers when assistance is requested or when directed by management.

If an employee believes another task falls outside their role, they should discuss the matter with their supervisor before proceeding.

Managers may temporarily assign additional responsibilities based on operational needs, employee development, or staffing requirements.

5. Communication Standards

Professional communication is essential to maintaining an effective workplace.

Employees should:

- Communicate respectfully.
- Respond to messages within a reasonable timeframe during working hours.
- Notify supervisors when delays may affect projects.
- Keep discussions constructive and solution-focused.
- Avoid hostile, insulting, or disruptive communication.

Disagreements are expected in a collaborative workplace. However, disagreements must remain professional and respectful.

6. Teamwork and Collaboration

The Company values teamwork and encourages employees to assist one another whenever appropriate.

Employees are encouraged to:

- Share knowledge.
- Offer assistance when available.
- Respect differing opinions.
- Support new employees.
- Collaborate toward shared goals.

Collaboration should never involve bypassing established approval processes or interfering with another employee's responsibilities.

7. Workplace Respect

Every employee deserves to work in an environment free from intimidation, hostility, or disrespect.

Employees must:

- Treat coworkers fairly.
- Respect personal boundaries.
- Use appropriate language.
- Avoid gossip intended to damage another employee's reputation.
- Resolve disagreements professionally whenever possible.

Respect applies equally to coworkers, supervisors, contractors, vendors, and clients.

8. Anti-Harassment and Anti-Discrimination

The Company has zero tolerance for harassment, discrimination, bullying, abuse, or retaliation.

Prohibited conduct includes, but is not limited to:

- Verbal abuse
- Written abuse
- Physical intimidation
- Threats
- Bullying
- Sexual harassment
- Unwanted advances
- Offensive jokes
- Discriminatory remarks
- Offensive images or messages
- Repeated unwanted contact

Employees should help maintain an inclusive workplace where everyone is treated with dignity and respect.

Violations of this policy may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

9. Reporting Concerns

The Company encourages employees to report concerns whenever they believe a policy has been violated or inappropriate behavior has occurred.

Concerns may include, but are not limited to:

- Harassment
- Workplace abuse
- Discrimination
- Safety issues
- Ethical concerns
- Company policy violations
- Misconduct

Reports should be submitted as soon as reasonably possible through the Company's designated reporting method. Upon submission, each report will be forwarded to a designated confidential employee responsible for receiving and documenting workplace complaints. The identity of this employee will not be publicly disclosed to other staff members in order to help preserve confidentiality and encourage employees to report concerns without fear of unnecessary exposure.

Employees are encouraged to provide as much relevant information as possible, including:

- A description of the incident.
- Individuals involved.
- Dates and locations, if known.
- Any supporting documentation or evidence available.

All reports will be reviewed objectively and handled according to Company procedures.

10. Confidential Complaint Process

Once a complaint is received, the designated confidential employee will document the report, conduct an initial review, and coordinate with the appropriate members of management or other authorized personnel to ensure the matter is investigated and addressed appropriately.

The Company will make reasonable efforts to protect the privacy of everyone involved. Information related to a complaint will be shared only with individuals who have a legitimate business need to participate in reviewing, investigating, or resolving the matter.

Employees who submit complaints in good faith are expected to cooperate honestly during any review or investigation. The Company is committed to handling all complaints fairly, respectfully, and without retaliation.

11. Protection Against Retaliation

Employees who report concerns in good faith should feel comfortable doing so.

The Company prohibits retaliation against employees who:

- Report misconduct.
- Participate in investigations.
- Provide truthful information.
- Raise workplace concerns.

Retaliation itself is considered a policy violation and may result in disciplinary action.

12. Confidentiality

Employees may have access to confidential information, including:

- Customer information
- Business strategies
- Internal communications
- Software and source code
- Financial information
- Personnel information

Employees must not disclose confidential information unless authorized to do so as part of their job responsibilities.

Confidentiality obligations continue even after employment ends.

13. Company Property

Employees are expected to protect Company property and use it responsibly.

Company property may include:

- Computers
- Laptops
- Mobile devices
- Software
- Development tools
- Documentation
- Office equipment
- Intellectual property

Company resources should primarily be used for legitimate business purposes.

14. Compliance

Every employee is responsible for following Company policies.

Failure to comply may result in corrective action depending upon:

- The seriousness of the violation.
- Whether the violation was intentional.
- Previous disciplinary history.
- Impact on coworkers or the Company.

Corrective action may include coaching, written warnings, suspension, or termination of employment.

15. Policy Updates

The Company may revise this policy as business needs, operational practices, or legal requirements change.

Employees will be notified of significant revisions.

The most current version of this policy supersedes previous versions.

16. Employee Acknowledgment

Employees are expected to read this policy carefully and comply with its requirements throughout their employment.

Questions regarding this policy should be directed to a supervisor or the appropriate Company representative.

By continuing employment with the Company, employees acknowledge that they are expected to follow these workplace standards and understand that violations may result in disciplinary action.
